ORIGINAL POETRY.

THE following lines have been sent us by Miss AGNES NYE, of Beaver Falls, this county. They were written by her invalid sister, Miss MAGGIE E. NYE, while a patient at the Columbus (O.) Water Cure Infirmary. The writer has been entirely helpless for two years and a half, with the exception of being able to use her right hand. Her sufferings are said to be the greatest ever known.—ED. ARGUS.

LEAVING THE COLUMBUS WATER-CURE.

Ah, this place must be delightful!
With beautiful trees, and the flowers in bloom:
And for many, many weeks
It has been my Water-Cure Home.

So vast has been the kindness
That to me has here been shown,
By the patients and Mrs. Proctor,
At the Water-Cure home.

Here the sick are often carried;
Here I am happy, though alone;
And my nurse is kind and tender
At the Water Cure home.

Sadly, silently I am waiting;
Watching, for I know they'll come
To take me from bright scenes desired
At the Water-Cure home.

Now they have come, and I am starting;
A few "Farewells," and I am gone
From the dear friends I have found
At the Water-Cure home.

Listen! at the back-wheels humming,
As they roll from stone to stone,
Hastening to the city depot
Near the Water-Cure home.

Now, swiftly on the train we're traveling
Where some have said, "No more I'll roam."
Some are gay, but I'm not happy, because
I've left the Water-Cure home.

The interest, care and kindness,
Exhibited by friends unknown,
Surpasses my expectations
On the train—coming home.

Many friends, as choicest blessings
Are among the mercies God has shown;
And 'tis sweet to receive attention
From strange friends—coming home.

And ever, while my memory lasts,
Wherever I stray or roam,
I'll cherish the remembrance of these friends,
I'met—coming home.

Listen, darling; don't you fear us
As we nearer, nearer come?
While I'm pondering about dimpled hands,
Not at the Water-Cure home.

Safely, safely we are landed;
And I am listening for the tone
Of sweet voices, I've not heard
While at the Water-Cure home.

There's a tear dropped on my face;
There's a whisper: "Ah, you've come!"
And a gentle pressure of the hand,
And a—"Welcome, darling Maggie, home"

Lightly, lightly now my soul
They, within the 'bus have borne;
While these words are quickly flying:
"'Tis their invalid sister has come home."

Then, before a door we have stopped;
Now I'm lying in my room,
And 'tis sad, but oh, so sweet,
Though not well, to be at home.

Now the loved ones flying near me;
While I was absent, they were sad and lone;
And now I realize how sweet,
When afflicted, to be home.

Here, too, I shall have friends,
For many have already come
And made me the recipient of their kindness
In my Beaver Falls home.

'Tis pleasant to be remembered
By persons to me not known;
And I'm aware I will love the inhabitants
Of my Beaver Falls home.

The town appears real romantic,
Though surrounded not by gloom;
And a specimen of industry
Is my Beaver Falls home.

There are some magnificent dwellings,
And yards with flowers overgrown:
Although I cannot view them
In my Beaver Falls home.

He, who soothes me in affliction,
And scatters light and love,
Sunshine's grace will ever bestow
While I'm in my earthly home.

Although my suffering is severe,
Yet I suffer not alone;
For Jesus will continue near me,
Though I've left my Water-Cure home.

Vainly, for our noble Doctor,
I have looked for him to come;
But there's a crown for him in heaven
When he's left his Water-Cure home.

And within the coming years,
With pleasant memories oft shall come
Thoughts of him and his excellent wife whom
I never met at the Water Cure home

By-and-by, the blessed Saviour
Will command: "No longer roam;"
And my dear friends, Alice, Lottie,
I hope I'll meet in a heavenly home.

JOAQUIN MILLER.

The Poet of the Sierras Photographed by his Wife—Mrs. Miller's Lecture at Pacific Hall, San Francisco—History of Joaquin's Wedded Life—Sketches of his Character—"The Ghost of Byron"—The Poet's Method of Composition—His Reception of Visitors—A Remarkable Career.

[From the San Francisco Chronicle, Sept 25.]

Last night Mrs. Miller made her debut in the lecture field, and essayed to instruct her hearers a little more in what she knew about the great poet. Pacific hall was pretty well filled, although not so well as the lectures and her subject deserved. Mrs. Miller is a pale, thoughtful looking woman, and one who shows that she has passed through a world of care and sorrow. She is not, perhaps, so handsome in form and figure as she is in the soul which beams out of her eyes and lights up her delicately moulded face. She was attired in a plain black silk, and wore her hair drooping about her shoulders in a wreath of ringlets. Her delivery is good, and her words are given with all the pungency with which they are written.

"THE POET AND THE MAN."

Mrs. Miller began her lecture as follows: Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Sierras, is not my individual property. He belongs to the world of poetry and of letters; but this world must bear in mind that he was mine before he had gone through the process which made him valuable to the world. As a diamond in the rough he belonged to me, and as such I propose to tell you of him. I do not come before you as a wronged or deserted wife. I do not come to complain. The course of our life has developed a new phase of nature, and no one is injured to any great extent. I have the experience, and the world has the poet. The career of Joaquin Miller as a poet has been more remarkable than that of any other known. The career of this man, as a man, has not been less remarkable. He left home at the age of fourteen, and the intervening years had been spent mostly in the shadow of Mount Shasta, with red men and woman for companions. The poet-boy, with his yellow hair and blue eyes, had heard of Joaquin Murietta, the Spanish bandit, and thought him the greatest man of the age. To be like Joaquin was the dream of his life. An venture, spiced with danger, was his constant pursuit. If he did not have the discretion, sagacity and subtlety of the poet of the Sierras, he at least had the persistent energy and indefatigable industry which characterizes Joaquin Miller. She first wrote to him, and then asked him to come to her. She says: I wrote letters descriptive of the wild romantic scenery. I told him of the gloomy pines and moaning cedars; of the wild roses and the gay flowers that crammed the bluffs; of the spotted fishes that stole away up through the silent streams; of the white lagoon and the little sail boat that waited on the shores at my behest; of the birds that shrieked from their nests upon the reefs, and floated, in dizzy flocks, down the little river. And then I told him of my own desolate life, of my longing for a congenial spirit, etc. I told him that a delightful, dreamy trail wound over the mountains, and if he would come I would ferry him over the river, in my little boat. Now—I say this in behalf of the poet of the Sierras—what young man who had the embryo nature of a poet within him, could do less than to forsake the cold, delusive realms of Salmon river, and, ignoring the roses and pinks of the Willamette, turn a deaf ear to the tender voices of the maiden of Eugene creek—the poetry grandeur of the sea shore? He came riding on the famous spotted horse. He stopped before the door, dismounted and came in. The dashing Roman general who captured Cleopatra could not have been more dignified. I felt the magnitude of the situation and tried to assume the bearing of a Spartan maiden, but failed. Not knowing what else to do I asked him to come in and make himself at home. I will not narrate what followed. In the four or five days that followed we rode and walked, and sailed and talked, and together watched the sun set upon the ocean and the moon rise over the forest. We lived in an atmosphere of poetry.

MARRIED—JOAQUIN AT WORK.

On Sunday we were married. It was mostly my fault. Joaquin has often reproached me for it, and I feel the justice of his reproach. It is true the marriage was vastly more like a funeral than a wedding. Many of the guests did not hesitate to say that it would be better far if the bride were a corpse. The dashing, daring young editor who came so grandly on his spotted courser had not captured their hearts as he had mine. But he was not himself. He felt called upon, as he does to-day, to do something great and awe inspiring. He did not think it best to compromise his dignity as editor of an Oregon paper by being affable, so when the generous hearted miners approached him he waved them off with a bland wave of his hand, and smiled that peculiar smile of his, which is all below the eyes. Mrs. Miller here went into the Byronic period in Joaquin's existence, and referred humorously to his search for a Mary Chaworth in the person of a Willamette girl. From that little episode she came to their life in this city, where they eked out an existence by writing for the papers. Then to their life in Grant county, Oregon, where Joaquin was elected a judge, and where Mrs. Miller says her baby was born. She drew a beautiful and most poetic picture of her cottage there, and said that the tenderest recollections clustered around that place, for there was not only born her second baby, but "The Songs of the Sierras." And then followed the description of Joaquin's studies, as follows:—"Now, ladies and gentlemen, with your permission I will introduce you into the poetic workshop. we go up an outside stairway, enter a hall, and from thence a small, dingy room, which is ostensibly the office of the county judge of Grant county, but really the poetic workshop of the "Poet of Sierras." And here we behold the artist at work. There is a long table covered with black oil cloth and furnished with drawers. Scattered over this table are books, papers, stationery and manuscripts. At this table sits the artist pouring over a large open book. His pen rests in a spacious inkstand ready for use. A page of foolscap is spread before him, on which are written with irregular dashes between them and the words ever—clever—over—clover—fire—desire, and so on. We glance at the book spread before him. It is a copy of "Webster's Unabridged Dictionary." The poet is searching for euphonious words. We look at the books upon the table. Here is a rhyming dictionary, late numbers of the four "British Reviews," Blackwood's Magazine, the Atlantic and Overland Monthlies, Harper's, Leslie's, Brick Pomeroy's Democrat, M'Cormick's Almanac, etc. We glance up at the books upon the shelves. The British poets in bound volumes are ranged in a row. Then the American poets and authors, Victor Hugo's works, the Waverly Novels, some Latin authors, whose names I never even learned; ancient and modern history and biography. The works of various authors, too numerous to mention, are carefully arranged upon these shelves—Rollin, Rosseau, Voltaire, Tom Paine, Macauly, Dickens, Bulwer, and many others. On the other side of the house is the law library. A large family Bible bound in Turkish morocco lies carelessly upon the end of the table. Is this Bible used, you ask? Indeed it is. Every evening at a certain hour the poet opens the Bible, draws his huge inkstand close toward him, g

The Beaver Argus.

J. WEYAND, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

Beaver, Pa., October 23d, 1872.

ON Monday, the 14th instant, Mr Hart our Clerk of Court, was waited upon by four well known members of the bar, namely, Messrs. Wilson, Hice, Wickham and Moore, and by them earnestly urged to promptly tell the truth concerning the attempted fraud on the ballot-box in Beaver Falls. After these gentleman had represented to him the importance, so far as his own reputation was concerned, of replying immediately to the inquiries contained in the letter published in our last week's issue, the original whereof was there and then delivered to him, he professed to be inclined to take the only course which manliness and true policy dictated, and at once tell all he knew about this very suspicious business. Yielding however, to the solicitations of men whose only object is to shield themselves from exposure and obloquy at whatever risk or price, Mr. Hart, a few minutes later, refused to answer for one week. The week has passed and still he has given no reply. It is very evident there is something wrong, and the public are rapidly coming to the conclusion that he is and has been colluding with other parties for the purpose of giving them time to prepare specious explanations of their conduct. Sooner or later he and they must come out with some sort of a statement, and we warn Mr. Hart that he has not much time to lose. Delays are said to be dangerous; but delay in a matter of this kind is as MF. Hart has been told over and over again, not only dangerous but criminal.

—Since the above was in type, Mr. Hart has made an answer which will be found in another column.

WHEN the outrageous villainies of public officers, and the assaults upon the purity of the ballot-box in New York city became intolerable some eighteen months ago, the people without regard to party, rose en masse, held a public meeting and appointed a committee of seventy per sons—the best and ablest that could be found—to inquire into the conduct of their leading municipal officers, and requested them, if the evidence they could get hold of would justify it, to commence legal proceedings against the villains without delay. That committee soon unearthed frauds which appalled them, and of which the tax payers of the city never dreamed. Legal proceedings were commenced against the scoundrels at once, and in a short time those of them who were not tried, convicted and, thrown into prison, had to flee the country and leave their ill-gotten wealth behind. The "Ring" which was all-powerful but little more than a year ago is to-day completely broken, and its members' names are a reproach wherever heard. That was the way they dealt with high-handed villainy and organized crime there, and that committee of seventy is now very properly looked upon as having saved New York from financial ruin, and a still lower deep in political infamy.

In Pennsylvania, we have as infamous a "Ring" as ever cursed any State or any people. Cameron is the peer of Tweed in official rascality and political debauchery. His trained tools are scattered all over the State. They demoralize our young men by "setting up the drinks" whenever in their presence, in order to obtain their "good will" and help, and in this manner make moral wrecks of all who come within their reach and pass under their influence. They buy with money the votes and influence of all who will sell, and pay the price with money taken unlawfully from the State Treasury. They bribe election officers wherever a venal wretch can be found, and when all other means are likely to fail they import scoundrels to vitiate our ballot-boxes. Is it not high time, then, that something be done to check this carnival of villainy in Pennsylvania? Should not the people band together, without distinction of party, and looking only to the public good, institute measures to take by the throats and throttle the rascals who fatten upon the Treasury of the State, and who have made its politics a reproach all over the country? Might not a "Committee of Seventy" do for Pennsylvania what a similar committee did for New York one year ago? We throw out the suggestion merely for others to think about it.

CAMERON and his friends already claim the Republican State victory a Cameron victory! Before the election there was not a Cameron paper or a Cameron speaker in the State willing to admit that Simon was to be honored by the success of Hartranft,

HON. Sam'l J. Randall, Chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, has brought suit against several prominent Republican leaders in Philadelphia for libel, in charging him with an attempt to circulate fraudulent naturalization papers. McClure will be a witness in the case, and if the libelers don' get justice it will not be M'Clure's fault. The charge was made to call attention from the frauds of the Ring.

MR. RUSSELL ERRETT, the Chairman of the State Republican Committee has issued a congratulatory address to the Republican voters of the State. In it he takes occasion to say that no person who opposed Hartranft shall speak in favor of Grant through permission of the State Committee. He also asks County Committees to rule such persons off of the Grant rostrums in their respective localities. Bearing in mind that this man Errett has always been Cameron's slave, we may take it for granted that this is the edict of his master. This political ukase is aimed at Curtin, Grow, McClure, Forney and Marshall. We have no doubt but these gentlemen felt very badly on reading, pondering and digesting it.

IF you would succeed in the world and be rewarded with public trusts, make yourself the companion of felons and knaves, gamble with the funds of a State intrusted to your care, and place nothing so low as virtue and integrity. If you would fail to be honored by your fellow-citizens, devote your life to a thorough study of the science of government and the needs of your countrymen; keep your character spotless and your integrity above reproach, place honor and virtue above all else, and determine you will have no success unless it be good and right. This is the lesson of the late election in this Commonwealth.

THE people of this county are waiting with intense anxiety for the result of the investigation instituted one week ago by the lawyers of the Beaver Bar relative to the attempted pollution of the ballot-box in Beaver Falls on the 8th inst. Messrs. Attorneys! the citizens of this county are deeply interested in your movement. They want you to probe that premeditated fraud to the very bottom, and to take no care about what person or party your probing may affect. Unearth the villian or villans, whoever he or they may be, who would tamper with our ballots and thus rob us of one of the most inestimable rights we possess. It cost blood and treasure to establish a free ballot in this country, and if we have men in our midst who are so unpatriotic and so desperately wicked as to attempt to wrest it from us, let their names be known so that the public may accord them their true positions in the county forever after. The "Committee of Seventy" broke up a nest of scoundrels in New York some eighteen months ago, and held them up to public view; your committee of sixteen can, and we trust will, ferret out this intended and daring attack upon the sanctity of the ballot, and hold the wretches up to merited scorn, who conceived and came so near carrying it into execution.

OUT in Minnesota there is a great excitement over the case of a county treasurer who uses the public money for private speculations. A benighted country paper, published in the county of Ulmstead, asks, "What is the country coming to?" What would it ask if it were published in Pennsylvania, where men are promoted for actions like this?

OFFICIAL integrity being at an exceedingly low ebb in Pennsylvania, individuals in their private capacities are begining to "take" all they can get their hands on. Here is a late instance: A former member of Congress from one of the districts in Philadelphia has disappeared, taking with him considerable property belonging to two widows and one or two other persons. The statement is that he became attorney for the widows and persuaded them to place their stocks in his keeping, promising to return them dividends. He made one or two payments and has disappeared, since which they have heard nothing of their stocks or custodian. The value of the stock is about twenty thousand dollars.

THOSE ministers and laymen who could pray, on the 6th of October for the Good Being to "give us pure and God-fearing men to rule over us," and then themselves vote for Hartranft and Allen on the second succeding day, have manifestly consciences of the India-rubber mould. Their Christianity, we take it, will hardly save themselves, much less operate to make their neighbors and the world better.

ON the 14th inst., a complaint was made before Alderman Arnweg of Lancaster, by Reinhart Reiler, Election Judge of the Eighth ward of Lancaster, against Dr. H. E. Muhlenberg, United States collector of internal revenue, for offering said election judge two hundred dollars to stuff the ballot-box to reduce Buckalew's majority to one hundred in said ward. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Muhlenberg, and that person subsequently gave bail for his appearance at court to answer the charge preferred against him.

WE understand that a little "fiste' in New Brighton, who is too depraved and insignificant to be named in these columns, is busily engaged in trying to make the impression that the "editor of the ARGUS writes General Irwin's letters." This is a falsehood from beginning to end. Not only do we not write the letters referred to, but we scarcely ever do, what in a printing office is called, "correct" them.—The General writes them himself; at least they come to this office in his handwriting.

Is it not a little strange that of all the newspapers printed in Beaver county, the ARGUS is the only one that has published the letter of the attorneys of the Beaver Bar addressed to J. C. Hart, asking for information touching the attempted election fraud in Beaver Falls.—The rest of them have been as silent as the grave on that subject. The ARGUS being independent, and subject to no control save that of its editor, has insisted from the beginning that the men who made this attack upon the sanctity of the ballot-box in our midst, should be dragged to the light, let them in the end prove to be Liberal Republicans, Democrats or Straight-Republicans. It makes no difference to us who these villains are or to what political party they belong. They were engaged in a business, which, if extensively prosecuted, would annihilate the liberties of the country, and to expose them, is the bounden duty of every friend the country has. Honest men of Beaver county! whether you be Liberal Republicans, Democrats or Straight-Republicans, let us ask you to watch this Beaver Falls matter to the end. Mark those who are seeking to cover up its horrid details, and are trying to screen and shield the guilty wretches who "set it up," and rest assured that these persons themselves will bear very close watching.

IF the voters of Beaver county are anxious to know what the result of the election in this State on the 8th means, they are respectfully referred to an article in these columns headed, "The Legislature of 1873." That article is clipped from the Harrisburg State Journal, one of the Ring newspapers of Pennsylvania. In it the editor boldly assumes that the people decided by their votes on the second Tuesday of October, that General Cameron should be returned to the United States Senate, and that they desire Mr. Mackey's re-election as the Treasurer of the State. Not only this, but he goes further and declares that the measures which Messrs Hartranft and Mackey brought before the Legislature last winter as Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, and which were then defeated by the vigilance of Mr. Billingfelt, should now be passed without delay, because the people so decided on the 8th inst. One of the measures here referred to was for authority to borrow five millions of dollars, ostensibly to pay off the matured obligations of the State, but in fact to give the Treasury ring that much more money to lend to the bankers scattered here and there over Pennsylvania. To recapitulate: The verdict of the people on the 8th means:

First.—That they desire the re-election of Cameron to the United States Senate.

Second.—That they desire the re-election of R. W. Mackey as State Treasurer.

Third.—That they sanction the project of adding five millions of dollars to our present State indebtedness.

Now that the election is over and the smoke has passed away, what do the tax payers of the State think of the victory they have won? A few more victories of that character, and they may then get ready to mortgage their real estate for money to pay their taxes.

A Pennsylvania Congressman and U. S. Revenue Officials Arrested on Charges of Bribing Voters.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—A dispatch from Wilksbarre, Pa., says that Internal Revenue Collector Hoyt, L. D. Shoemaker, (candidate for Congress), ex-Mayor Lories of Scranton, and Revenue Assessor Gaines, of Pittston, have been arrested on a charge of bribing voters at the recent election.

The Mayor and Postmaster of Scranton, Pa., also Arrested for Bribery.

—Scranton advices of same date as above, report the Mayor and Postmaster of that city, with that of several prominent officials, on a charge of ballot-box stuffing and bribery.—These men are alleged to have bought voters and bribed judges. Affidavits in the cases are already in hand.

Two Prominent Lancaster Politicians Held for Trial, Charged with Issuing False Naturalization Papers.

LANCASTER, PA., Oct. 17.—Capt. McMelen, member of Select Council and a member of the Republican Co. Committee, also John Wittenger, a prominent broker, have been arrested and held in $1,500 bail to answer a charge of issuing fraudulent naturalization papers. McMelen made strong efforts to have the charge against him withdrawn by Mayor Pyfe, but that official declined, stating that justice must be meted out.

HERE AND THERE.

—A Russian Grand Duke has arrived in the city of Constantine. What does it mean many persons are asking. It is the first visit of the kind made by a Russian Prince since the Crimean war.

It seems to indicate peace. Peace is the echo of the conference of the Emperors at Berlin. It is well that the Sultan should be assured that the Berlin Conference meant no harm to Turkey. All this is well; but somehow our faith in princes is not great. Friendly visits have too often preceded serious war. What with the settlement of the Geneva Court of Arbitration and the peaceful results of the Imperial conference, there is really some good reason to hope that an era of peace has dawned upon the world. This visit of the Russian Prince to Constantinople is in good time and in good taste.

—Can any of our readers who are familiar with curious books inform us of any history of Gretna Green and of the strange marriages which have been celebrated there? The recent death of old Simon Bang, the last of the Gretna priests, is generally spoken of in the English newspapers.

He was a weaver by occupation, and inherited the matrimonial business from his father. Each was called Bishop Lang. In early days the average number of marriages at Gretna Green were about 60 annually; but the number in later times rose to 400. The fees ranged from half a guinea to £50 and even more; though hard up couples were sometimes united for a dram of whiskey. These marriages were regular according to the loose law of Scotland, which merely required a declaration by both parties in the presence of witnesses; yet curiously enough, Scotch lovers have been known to betake themselves to Gretna when they might have been just as easily married at home. The Gretna practice was abandoned in 1826, in consequence of the interference of the Ecclesiastical Courts; but for the 50 years in which the Green was the resort of runaway couples, 198 gentlemen, 15 officers of the army, and 13 noblemen were married their. These marriages are now formally prohibited by Act of Parliament.

—The reelection of Simon Cameron as Governor, Auditor, Treasurer, and Senator of Pennsylvania—perhaps we ought to say State Legislature also—revives some memories of his abandonment of the office of Secretary of war, which just now may be interesting. Judge Black in an article some time ago The in Galaxy alluded to the curtness of the note in which President Lincoln "accepted" Secretary Cameron's "resignation," without a word of compliment or regret. But the truth is, Mr. Cameron did not resign; he was dismissed; and Mr. Lincoln's note accepted what had never been offered. In an interview with a prominent New-York gentleman, just before the appointment of Mr. Stanton, President Lincon gave his reasons for the change which he had resolved to make in the War Department. These were, first, Mr. Cameron's scandalous affiliations with army contractors; and secondly, his incapacity, which had resulted in serious disorders and difficulties in the affairs of the army. We believe that these faults, however, are not considered material by President Grant,

—We must say that we do not exactly relish the exhibiton of babies at cattle-shows. Not that the dear creatures are not pretty enough to be entered for premiums, but, after all, there is something coarse and unpleasant about the idea. The best premium which a nice infant can win is the home love and pride. Here now is an account of the Crow Wing County Fair in Minnesota. Between the sheep and choice pigs and the Newfoundland and St. Bernard dogs comes the account of the babies, telling how Mrs. Strauss's pledge "carried proudly away the premium," to the despair of the less fortunate mothers. It isn's pleasant reading

—It is curious that the great, as some say the "wholesale" poisoners, should be so often women. The English newspapers mention the case of Mary Ann Cotton who is in Durham jail on a charge of murdering her step-son, by the administration of arsenic. It is now supposed that the woman had done a great business in that way before. She had a lodger, who died some time since, in whose body arsenic has been found, and whose speedy death she had prophesied to the neighbors. Now, the Secretary of State has issued orders for the exhumation of Cotton's husband, his son, and their child, who died last March. The woman, it appears, frequently changed her residence, and wherever she lived the deaths are stated to have been numerous among those about her, and small sums were in most cases obtained from the burial societies. The woman has had four husbands. Nos. 1 and 2 and 4 are dead. No. 3 is still living, though not with his wife.

OAKLAND GROVE, BEAVER CO., PA., NEW BRIGHTON, Oct. 19, 1872.

COL. J. WEYAND, Editor "Beaver Argus," and to the honest citizens of Beaver county, GREETING:

I will not fail to redeem my promise in the performance of duty to my fellow-citizens. They have a right to expect, from one who has been a public servant, not only that he has performed his public duties, but that he should warn them against the intrigues and machinations of bad men. This I have done, and shall continue to do; but, notwithstanding a full expose of the faithless and corrupt character of the man—in the face and despite of facts—you have elected J. S. Rutan to the State Senate. Your months should hereafter be closed from uttering complaints when it shall be made appear that he has been instrumental in filching vast sums from the State Treasury to relieve Mackey and reward ring partizans—when your Sinking Fund has been depleted, your State debt augmented and the burden of your taxes are largely increased.

There is a redeeming clause to the above allegation. Republican votes did not elect J. S. Rutan. It was money that did it, and this is the way it was accomplished: (I give my election precinct as an example.) An accurate canvass was made of the district, and the number of Republicans who would not vote for Rutan ascertained. Fifteen dollars a head was then paid for a sufficient number of purchaseable Democrats to make up and overbalance the defection. In some cases, more than that amount of money was paid. In Pulaski township (where I reside) there were forty-seven Republican votes polled; twenty of them were cast for Dunlap, four for the prohibition candidate—A. Bestwick—which left just twenty-three votes for J. S. Rutan. Thus it is plain that thirty-one Democrats voted for him, and they did so for cash! None of the better class of conscientious Democrats sold their votes; but that unprincipled portion who voted against sustaining the Government during its trials in the war of the great rebellion, sold themselves, for $15 a head, to re-elect that magnificent fraud—J. S. Rutan—to the State Senate. Quay and Rutan did this bribery. If they deny it, I dare them to institute judicial proceedings, and I will plage them in a more undesirable position before the public than they have hitherto occupied.

Thus much for Quay's lie that Rutan ran ahead of his ticket in this township The above being true—as it can be proven to be—let us estimate how many Democrats in this Senatorial district were purchased in this same way. To avoid the labor of a close calculation, put it at twenty out of every one hundred and fifty votes polled (this of course is a less average than in Pulaski tp., where desperate efforts were made because of this being my place of voting). At $15 per voter, this would foot up a bribery sum spent in this Senatorial district by the Cameron treasury ring of upwards of thirty thousand dollars! The State at large has been carried in the same manner. Upwards of two million dollars will not exceed the aggregate of the bribe money spent in this State at the recent election. But, who cares for expenses? The purchased Senators and Representatives will re-elect Old Simon; one of the Ring men for State Treasurer; pass a law to exonerate Mackey from the loss of $165,000 of the State money by the failure of Yerkes and Allen will audit the accounts. A bill to allow the State to borrow six millions of dollars, and one to loan the Sinking Fund assets to irresponsible corporations, will in all probability be passed; and the interest on the unusually large "unexpended balance" thus provided for, will go far to re-imburse this extraordinary expenditure of the ring. No matter if it does increase your taxes. J. S. Rutan is in favor of all these projects; although he declared in New-Brighton that he would not vote for Cameron's re-election if he was a candidate; but, he knew either that Cameron would not be a candidate, or he told a deliberate falsehood. He also said in Washington, Pa., that he had been afraid of Mackey, but would assure the people that he would not be a candidate again. That was another lie.

Please preserve the following predictions: If Cameron is a candidate for re-election to the U. S. Senate, Rutan will vote for him. If Mackey is a candidate for re-election as State Treasurer, Rutan will vote for him. If a bill is offered in the Legislature to exonerate Mackey from paying the State the $165,000 dollars of her money which he had loaned to Yerkes to speculate upon, he will do it; and do all he can to promote Mackey's re-election, that he may have a chance to lend some other banker a similar amount of State funds for private speculation. If he does not do so—mark it well—it will only be because he knows I am on his track and will expose him to the public fearlessly. If cash enough is offered him, he will do so anyhow. He even expected a bribe to secure his vote for an appropriation to pay for publishing the Soldiers' history, although a "hospital soldier himself."

I cannot omit to notice some of the gentlemen whose moral sense would not permit them to vote for Rutan when a can[illegible] for District Attorney, because, they said, he had neither sense nor honesty;—in which they were correct—and when a candidate for renomination for Senator they opposed him because they declared he was a fraud,—and in this they were correct, as they have had abundance of evidence that he is a falsifier, a fraud and a legislative rooster, yet, notwithstanding all this, these conscientious moralists, these puritanic straight-coats, these political poppinjays, walked up to the polls, with the sweet-scented tongs (silver-plated) of the "little corporal" on their noses, and went it blind for Rutan. Gents, don't groan at nor slander your neighbors; otherwise you may hear unpleasant truths which may trouble your dreams.

The Ring papers have made considerable ado about my asking for the pardon of Charles T. Yerkes, the banker of Philadelphia, who failed when Mackey had money of the State in his bank for the purpose of speculation. The facts are these: Messrs C. T. Yerkes & Co. were bankers in very good standing in that city, who failed to meet their liabilities in consequence of the great fire in Chicago. The city Treasurer of Philadelphia had money deposited in the bank; and, when it failed, the Treasurer and the banker were arrested. Why was not State Treasurer Mackey also arrested. Simply because he drew his worthless check on a bank where he had not one dollar on deposit, for $165,800, and placed it in the vault of the State Treasury and counted it as cash. The Treasury was all O. K., of course, because Mackey so reported it under oath. Well, Mr. Marcer, city Treasurer, and Mr. Yerkes were both sent to the penitentiary because they could not pay their respective debts with a check; and Mackey went "scott free," with a chance for further favors, because he had the power to cover tracks by issuing his private check as an individual, to himself as State Treasurer, for the whole amount of $165,840.37, placing it in the vault of the Treasury, and reporting it under oath to the Auditor General every month since as cash assets. That check is still on hand, unpaid to the State, and is worth just the paper it is written on. Knowing the above facts, as I did, I believed that Yerkes—only operating for Mackey on money deposited with him, and charging the depositor one-quarter per cent. as commission—was suffering an injustice by an imprisonment for a crime of which the real guilty party (R. W. Mackey) was not even censured. I therefore gave Yerkes a letter to be presented to the Governor in case of his conviction.

We have found out up here why the little "P." Hays (you can imagine the "P" to stand for either Polecat or Pistol) is so ready to do dirty work for the ring. He wants to be elected Prothonotary next year. If he is elected, I want you Beaver people to take a vote in six months after he comes to your town, to see whether you would rather have him, the itch, cholera or famine among you. He has not paid $20 tax, nor worn out a pair of boots yet in the county, and wants an office! Whew!

I send Mr. Editor, and ask for its publication, an article clipped from a paper of January 10, 1872, which explodes a lie manufactured by R. W. Mackey and Butcher Swope, to cover malversation tracks. This was long before Yerkes was convicted, and is true, while Mackey and Swope attempt to make it appear otherwise:

"PHILADELPHIA, PA., Jan. 10 1872.

EDITOR ARGUS: The following article has been generally copied by the Treasury Ring papers of this State:

"STATE TREASURER MACKEY VS. YERKES.

"On Wednesday, H. B. Swope, counsel for State Treasurer, R. W. Mackey, filed in the U. S. District Court a petition asking that T. C. Yerkes, &c., should be adjudged a bankrupt. The claim of Mr. Mackey is $165,840.37. During the term of Mr M.'s predecessor the deposit with Yerkes was some $250,000, which sum was turned over to Mr. Mackey as so much cash, who gradually drew it out until the amount was reduced to the sum above mentioned. In the papers filed by Mr. Swope there is proof under oath that the whole amount of money lost by Yerkes' failure has been reimbursed to the Commonwealth by Mr. Mackey, and that the money is now due to him in his individual capacity. This proof was necessary in order to give him standing in court to file the petition. The facts above stated by the vouchers on file in the Auditor General's office. This proceeding will be an important one, as it is alleged that many fraudulent preferences were made by Yerkes to various banks and bankers."—Philadelphia Sunday Republic.

I wish to show you, and your readers, that the above statement is simply untrue, and would suggest to those papers which have published the same to also publish the following which is a true statement of the facts in the case. I have them from Mr Yerkes himself, and quote his own words. Here they are:

"During the term of Kemble as State Treasurer he kept a large deposit with us. When Irwin took charge in 1868, by special request of Kemble, it was permitted a portion of the deposit to remain with us.

When Mackey was Treasurer, both years, he kept a deposit of a very nice amount with us.—When he gave up the Treasury to Irwin, in 1870, we had over $260,000, from which Irwin (impudently on taking charge) drew $100,000, and it was promptly met; the balance, by special request, he permitted to remain for a time.

"On Saturday morning preceeding the Monday on which Irwin again transferred the Treasury to Mackey (May 2, 1871), I went to Harrisburg and there with Gen. Irwin to make a deposit with us of $250,000. This was kindly done by Irwin after I explained that it was a special agreement between Mr. Mackey and myself. I having permitted Mr. Mackey to draw on us privately for $20,000. Mr Mackey was very anxious that I should get Irwin to deposit the money, as he was under so many promises that he feared he dare not draw it from other banks to place it with our house."

"The whole of the above is corroborated by Mr M. H. Taggart, a gentleman of the highest grade of honesty, and who was cashier of the Treasury during Irwin's two terms A "

Very respectfully yours,

W. W. IRWIN.

BRADY'S BEND, BEAVER CO., Oct 18, '72

MR EDITOR. I want you to print what I write about the negroes. I was a soldier, always a Republican, and for Grant, but they are pushing the negroes to the front ranks now, just as the copperheads said they would. I didn't believe, on that, but I'm forced to now when I've seen it with my own eyes. I was standing by the steam mill and seen a crowd of negroes—with their cups and capes—a drinkin' about three or four dozen bottles of wine at Mot Darragus. Then us fellers saw 'em march in a row to Capt. McDonald's, at the "Point," where they got a free supper "free gratis for nothin'," and slathers of wine and whisky. And we was at the meetin' in Beaver, and the negroes was put in also, for us. All this we seen, and now we know they is to be put in the front ranks, and us fellers is to be put in the rear. Who done the fighting, and those negroes about here and in Brighton, is a worthless set and never did any fightin'.

We have worked at Mot Darragh's, and voted as he wanted us to, and was in the war, but he never asked us to come to his house and take a glass of wine; and Capt. McD said wouldn't vote for a Union man during the war, and he hated every one that wanted the negroes free; and he made his fortin' selling coal to the government during the war, and since his family and M. Darragh's family have got married together, he is willin' to take the nigger to his buzzum, that's what's the matter.

AN OLD SOLDIER.

Wild Pigeon Roost in this County.—Several gentlemen of this city have recently been to a pigeon slaughter near Oakland, in this county, and their statements of what they saw are truly marvellous, but the truth of their stories is verified in the thousands of dead pigeons brought home by them and distributed among their friends, if, indeed, such proof were necessary. In conversation with a highly esteemed resident of the Allegheny Glades, a gentleman born and reared in that portion of the country, and we were related some wonderful things about a wild pigeon roost on Mr. Wm. Schley's land, about five miles northwest of Oakland. Our informant says that one afternoon about ten days ago, countless flocks of wild pigeons were seen collecting upon a portion of Mr. Schley's land, embracing about sixty acres of ground, which is densely crowded with alder bushes, (a kind of tree, which, owing to its small size, about twelve or fifteen feet in height, and from three to four inches in diameter at the ground, is oftener styled a "bush.") It is of very common growth in the glade regions. The inflocking pigeons gradually settled down upon these bushes, until they were bent to the ground by the weight of the birds. Still more pigeons came flying in from distant points and continued to settle down upon the already living mass until the whole five or six acres were compactly covered. So great was the number of birds that they were piled upon each other in places from one to two feet in depth. The scene is described as wonderful and almost beyond belief—the fluttering of the countless thousands of wings, as the birds were flocking in and struggling with each other for an alighting place, was like the roar of a waterfall and could be heard at the distance of two miles, while the snapping of broken limbs of the trees added to the uproar and confusion, as the startled birds would arise to settle down again, perhaps in the same spot where their great weight had but the instant before broken on their perches and precipitated them to the ground. When a tree would snap and break, the birds that were upon it would start up and then settle down upon their nearest neighbors, but to experience perhaps, the same misfortune that had just befallen them, until night closed in. It cannot be estimated how many thousand birds were thus congregated, but in all probability not less than ten thousand. Our informant says millions! but it is wonderful enough to estimate them at the above figure. The pigeons continued flocking in and setting upon and among each other from about four o'clock in the afternoon until nightfall, when at last they became still, and prepared for their night's rest. With the early dawn of the morning flock after flock flew away in all direction, which departures were continued until about nine o'clock, when the place was deserted and not a living bird to be seen during the remainder of the day, until toward evening, when they again began flocking back to the same roosts, and the scenes of the evening before were again to be witnessed; and all this occurred daily for the past ten days. It is estimated that all the flocks of pigeons for perhaps fifty or sixty miles around, thus gather at this one spot, each evening during their annual migratory visit to the immense forest regions of the Allegheny Mountains in quest of the heavy mast of acorns abounding there. This is the only roost known this season in this or any of the bordering counties, and is perhaps the only one within a circle of several hundred miles. It is a well established fact that these birds have but one roosting place within a very large territory, and during their stoppage by the way, use one place only as a roost one night.—Somerset (Pa) Herald.

The Spiritualists Repudiating Mrs. Woodhull.

A Boston paper says there exists, especially in Massachusetts, a growing dissatisfaction among the better class of Spiritualists recently, with the action of the National Convention of Spiritualists recently held in that city in re-electing Mrs. Victoria Woodhull as its presiding officer. The same paper continues:

Her obnoxious free love theories have of late served to bring her into bad repute among many of her former friends of that class of people. Her attack on the character of Mr. Beecher in her speech before the Convention has served to intensify the feeling of distrust as to her real character. This speech was probably never equalled in vulgarity by a speaker before a promiscuous audience in Boston. A few nights after the convention had adjourned a number of its prominent members met to consult as to the feasibility of calling another National Convention. A general unanimity prevailed as to the desirableness of calling another convention soon from which Woodhull elements, which is fast bringing this class of people into disrepute, should be eliminated. This meeting represented several States in the Union, and some of the best minds, including some of the clearest headed and most eloquent editors and lecturers in the spiritualistic ranks.

Fatal Casualty.—Saturday night last, Mr. Henry Brown, who resided with his family on Thomas Conway's farm, above Freedom, started down the railroad track to purchase groceries in Freedom. His prolonged absence alarmed his wife, who caused search to be made for him. His lifeless body was found in the gutter beside the down track, about 3 o'clock Sunday morning. There is a sharp curve in the track at the place where the corpse was found—about ¼ths of a mile above Freedom. It is supposed the deceased, stepped on to the down track to avoid an up train on the other track, and was struck by a locomotive from the rear. He was a temperate, industrious, upright citizen, who leaves a family to mourn their bereavement.

"Specks" & Co. in a New Phase.—James M. Allen, alias 'Specks,' of this associates, while in Beaver Falls boarded and roomed at the Metropolitan Hotel, in that place. The landlord, understanding his business, made them settle up every Saturday night. Their last settlement carried them up to Saturday night, September 28th. On the 2nd of the 3d of October, learning that their business there had leaked out, and the officers of the law were on their track, they "lit out," and left a board bill of five or six days standing unpaid. The landlord is thus out of pocket some eighteen or twenty dollars, and is at a loss to know to whom to present the bill for liquidation. The party or parties who recommended Allen to the County Clerk as one of the Inspectors for Beaver Falls, should, and doubtless will, foot the bill, and we advise Mr. Hardy—the landlord—to make an effort to ascertain who they are without delay. If they decline to "come down," there is clearly no "honor among thieves."

ANGUS:—I make no charge, but I wish to state a few facts: Immediately after the letter addressed to C. Hart, Clerk of the Court, by the Attorneys of the Beaver county Bar, asking for information touching the appointment of Allen, alias Specks, as one of the Return Inspectors for Beaver Falls, he at once had a conference with Messrs. Quay and Rutan. After that conference, one of the lawyers who waited upon him that he would answer their communication in one week. Two hours after the Clerk made that reply, Messrs. Quay and Rutan went East, and have not returned. Later in the week Messrs. J. L. B. Dawson, of Beaver Falls, and J. R. Harrah of Rochester took an Eastern trip. Now, can any one tell what all this journeying toward the rising sun means, and what it will likely bring forth?

ANTI-"SPECKS."

Since writing the above I have learned that the wire-workers to the East all met at the "Cochiel House" in Harrisburg, on last Saturday night, and that it was then and there "cooked up" will, no doubt be made public in a few days. Of course, we look Hart's forth-coming answer was not written at that time and place. A. S.

The Poets of Scribner's Monthly.—The October number of Scribner's Monthly contained four poems by women. The writers are Mary E. Bradley, Susan Coolidge, Charlotte F. Bater, Louisa Bushnell. The Press commented on the poetry of the number as being of remarkable excellence.

The poetry of the November number is to be contributed entirely by women. They are:—Christiana G. Rosetti, Celia Thaxter, "H. H.," Mrs. Whitney and Elizabeth Akers Allen. Here are nine poems by nine different women, and all of it to be presumed of unusual merit.

The December number will contain a Poem by the celebrated English Poet, Robert Buchanan.

To Ladies in want of millinery goods, we would refer to Bence's establishment, 3d Street, Beaver, where the most fastidious may be suited as regards style and price. Mrs. Bence has just opened the second large stock for this season, of winter millinery consisting in part of hats, bonnets, plumes, tips, flowers, ribbons, velvets, frames, &c.; which for style, beauty and cheapness, cannot be surpassed. Having many years of practical experience in the millinery business, Mrs. Bence can offer extra inducements to her customers during this season. Hats and bonnets are also altered and done over at reasonable rates. We always have on hand a supply of neat mourning bonnets and other mourning goods; also just received new style shawls, gloves, skirts, hair goods, scarfs, velvets, lace collars, &c., at the lowest prices. The Horse and His Rider.—It was a happy day for the horse and his rider when the Mustang Liniment was introduced as a cure for the external injuries and diseases of both. In the stable, the barn, and the household this wonderful emollient is equally useful. If a horse is spavined, or foundered, or harness galled, or afflicted with any other of the many superficial ills that equine flesh is heir to, the Liniment effects a speedy cure, and it is equally efficacious when applied to draught oxen or cows suffering from outward swellings, strains or hurts of any description. As an application for bruises, cuts, burns, rheumatism, stiff joints, sprains, neuralgia, earache, and toothach, it takes precedence for all other topical remedies, and is therefore an article of prime necessity in families.

Where are we now? On Broadway New-Brighton. Where is the multitude going? to S & J Snellenburgs' clothing store to be fitted in raiments new for the approaching cold spell—moral: So like wise you will be benefited thereby and your purse diminished but little.

Mr. Isaac Ness, of Industry township, has our "undivided" thanks for a basket of very finely flavored, and immensely large apples. They embrace a number of the different varieties, and all are exceedingly easy to take.

A Gigantic Project.

The World's Fair, under the auspices of the Industrial Exhibition Company at New York, it is now suggested to make perpetual. The capital stock of the company is $7,000,000. A tract of eight blocks of land has been secured, bound by Third and Fourth avenues, Ninety-eight street and One Hundred and Second street, New York. It cost $1,700,000 and $200,000 deposit has been paid on it. The remainder is to be paid early next year. The streets and avenues crossing the property are to be closed by law and the company is given power to build on them, but the present idea is to build over them and keep them open to the public. Membership will be $10 for 30 admissions; $100 for life; $300 for family life; no tickets transferrable. There will be 1,274,660 feet of space to rent. Upon this is to lie erected a vast and substantial structure with every convenience for the exhibition of every description of the world's products in nature, art and manufacture.

Fraudulent Voting.—Legal proceedings have been commenced against two individuals in Industry township, for voting on fraudulent naturalization papers in that township, on the 8th of October. On being closely questioned, we understand, they admitted that their naturalization papers were made out in Philadelphia and sent to them by mail. It is scarcely necessary to say that these poor, ignorant creatures were handled by the Hartranft politicians of that township, and made to commit a crime which will probably land them in prison. "Whither are we drifting?"

GRAND OPENING.

Opening of E. P. Roberts' New Jewelry Store—The Finest Jewelry House in the City—Elegant Fixtures, Immense Stock, &c.

A few months ago we made mention of the demolishing of the time-worn buildings on the corner of Fifth avenue and market street, and of the new buildings to be erected in their stead. In an exceedingly short time an imposing four story building has been erected, which in design and construction, is fully equal if not superior to any of the kind on Fifth avenue. It is constructed of coarse brick, cut stone and iron, with floors laid on the European plan. We desire to call special attention to that part of the building occupied by Mr. E. P. Roberts, No. 16 Fifth avenue, on the first floor. The front of nearly twenty-five feet presents a very massive appearance, and is finished in solid walnut, with rich carvings. The French Plate Glass Windows are of immense size, being the largest in the city. The vestibule is laid with illuminated tile.

On entering the store-room we were surprised at the great flood of light which pervaded it as admitted through the French plate. The light affords fine facilities for the display of goods. The internal arrangement is a complete success in every particular. Seven large Walnut Show Cases, sixty feet in length adorn the walls. The cases are double extra oil finished and elaborately carved and veneered. An immense Plate Glass Mirror with walnut and marble base stands in the centre of the room. On the counters running on each side of the store are fine Silver Mounted Show Cases, measuring forty feet in all. The gas fixtures, flooring and counters, are all in the best of style. With the Watch Department, Cock room and Private Office we complete the outfit and turn our attention to the display of goods, the stock having been purchased especially for the opening of the new store, was a great attraction. The fine watches, rich jewelry, silverware and "verd antique" bronzes, as displayed, was grand beyond description. Of the general stock, as exhibited, it may be truthfully said that it is the choicest and most elaborate ever brought to the city. Our verdict is with the hundreds who have visited the store during the past few days—"that is the handsomest Jewelry store in the city." Mr. Roberts has proven himself fully alive to the interests of the city in opening such an establishment as this. His past reputation, with his new enterprise will win him a host of new patrons. The same stand has been occupied by Mr. E. P. Roberts and the former proprietor, J. M. Roberts, for twenty-five years past, and is known of throughout the entire community. Patrons of the house, and readers generally, are invited to visit the new establishment.—Pitts Chronicle.

A mysterious combination of circumstances has recently been brought to light in North Beaver township, this county, which caused considerable excitement, and as it is one of the most remarkable occurrences which has lately come within the range of our observation, we shall give account of it for the gratification of our readers. A short time since a saddle was left at the barn of Mr. Hugh Hops, which after remaining a few days, was secretly taken away by night. Soon after this, a dead horse, and also a dead dog was found in the woods belonging to Mr. Sampson. It was found upon examination that the horse had been killed by being knocked on the head, but strange as it may appear, no one in that locality had ever before seen the horse. But here comes the strangest part of the story. At no great distance from the dead animals, a new-made grave about six feet in length, carefully covered with sod, was found, which on being opened, disclosed the fact that it was only two feet deep, but that it was filled with different earth from that in which it was made. Nothing further was discovered. No one could give any information tending to throw any light on the subject. The indications are that a dark deed of cold-blooded murder has been perpetrated, but all is as yet wrapped in a thick cloud of impenetrable mystery. We anxiously await further developments.—New Castle Gazette.

What is thought of the Beaver Falls Outrage.—We heard a prominent gentleman of this county, and one who is universally esteemed, say the other day that he would rather be recognized as a horse thief, than to be in any way implicated in the Allen alias "Specks" atttempt to pollute the ballot-box at Beaver Falls, on the 8th inst. As a horse thief he would only injure one man—the person whose horse he had stolen, while as an abettor, aider or accomplice of ballot-box stuffers, he would not only be injuring a whole community, but striking a blow at the free institutions of the country.

BEAVER, PA., Oct. 12th, 1872.

JOHN C. HART, ESQ., Clerk of Courts.

DEAR SIR:—On the third day of October, 1872, by virtue of an Act of Assembly authorizing you to appoint two Return Inspectors of elections for the borough of Beaver Falls, in this county, you appointed as one of such Inspectors a man calling himself, among other names, James M. Allen or James M. Allen, sr., a stranger in our community, and universally known as a "repeater" and a scoundrel. One of the undersigned, a gentleman in whose veracity the other subscribers hereto have the most undoubting confidence, saw the certificate of Allen's appointment in your office and in your own hand writing; and another unimpeachable witness will testify, that he was present when you delivered it to a citizen of Beaver Falls. Indeed, so far as we are informed, you have never denied that you appointed Allen one of said Inspectors; on the contrary, you have admitted it to more than one of the undersigned.

Now, in view of your certificate, published on Monday, the 7th instant, that no PETITION asking the appointment of said Allen was ever filed in your office, as well as the affidavits of J. L. B. Dawson and Harry Patterson published therewith, that THEY did not recommend said appointment; and further, in view of the fact, that your certificate aforesaid has been improperly used and construed as a denial that said appointment was ever made, the undersigned, as members of the bar of Beaver county, and without distinction of party, beg leave to respectfully request written answers to the following inquiries:

FIRST. At whose request, instance or recommendation (made either in writing or otherwise) did you appoint the said Allen a Return Inspector of elections for the borough of Beaver Falls, or with whom did you consult relative to such appointment before making the same, and when and to whom did you deliver the certificate of appointment.

SECOND. At whose instance, request or suggestion, and under what circumstances did you assume to revoke, or cancel the appointment of said Allen?

THIRD. Please furnish us with any other information relative to this matter whereof you may be possessed.

As your action in making this appointment was of a purely PUBLIC and OFFICIAL character and not a thing to be surrounded with mystery, you will readily perceive, that, under existing circumstances the foregoing inquiries are strictly pertinent and proper, and such as any citizen desirous of probing an attempted fraud has a right to make. We as members of the bar and officers of the courts whereof you are clerk, are especially interested in having the charge now being made against yourself fully cleared up. We therefore trust that your answer to the above questions will be so FULL and FRANK as to completely allay all suspicions of any criminal intent on your part, and cause the respect and confidence with which we have hitherto regarded you to remain unimpaired. Hoping for a speedy reply, we remain very respectfully,

To the Hon. B. B. Chamberlin & Others:

GENTLEMEN:—In reply to your communication of Oct. 12th, 1872, addressed to me, I have to say that on the 12th day of September, 1872, a petition for the appointment of return inspectors of election for the borough of Beaver Falls, was filed in my office, signed by several citizens of said borough, and asking the appointment of George W. Nelson and Christian Moulter (both republicans) as such inspectors; and I thought there ought to be one man from each party appointed, but that I would see about the matter. Some time after this, I met J. L. B. Dawson and H. C. Patterson, at which time they asked me what I had done about the appointment of additional election officers for the borough of Beaver Falls. I said I had not concluded; they then gave as a reason for asking the appointment of two republicans, that with the full republican vote out, they could elect three out of the four inspectors to elect, and they thought they were entitled to as many by appointment as they could elect by ballot. I told them I would not be in a hurry making the appointment, and that if I appointed one from each party, they could suggest one and the democrats the other. About ten days or two weeks before the election, I asked the advice of J. S. Rutan, who passed the law, what I should do, and he advised me to appoint one man from each party; I said to him, you tell Dawson and Patterson what you think about this matter, for I thought it my duty to appoint one Republican and one Democrat, and I did not want to offend them. This he promised to do if he saw them. The next day he told me he had seen Dawson in Beaver, and had insisted upon the appointment of one man from each party; that Dawson had told him to have me withhold the appointment until he consulted Patterson and others.

The next day the (Mr. Rutan) handed me a note addressed to him which was as near as I can recollect, as follows:

"HON. J. S. RUTAN, Dear Sir:—Have James M. Allen and Ira Ransom, sr. appointed return inspectors for Beaver Falls borough. [Signed,] J. L. B. D."

I asked Mr. Rutan who Allen was. He replied he did not know; that he knew Ransom; who was the leading Democrat of Beaver Falls. Which note I carried in my pocket or left in my table drawer until the evening of Oct. 3d, 1872, when I wrote out the certificate appointing Ira Ransom, sr. (Democrat) I then started to the Post-office, and met J. L. B. Dawson and H. C. Patterson on the pavement in front of the Court-House, when one of them asked me if I had made the appointment of election officers for Beaver Falls. I told him I had. He then said, "Give me the certificate for our man." I said the certificate was not made out, but if they would wait a few minutes I would write out one for them, which they agreed to do if it did not take me too long. I then went to my office and wrote out a certificate for James M. Allen and gave it to Mr. Dawson, and my impression is that he did not read it, but put it into his pocket and started home, as it was then late in the evening; and I presume E. B. Daugherty, esq., Chairman of Democratic County Committee, seen Allen's certificate, for he was standing looking on the paper while I wrote a part of it. Mr. J. M. Phillis [Democrat] was also standing near me, but can't say that he seen what I was writing. That same evening, before I had retired, I was informed I had appointed the wrong man; return inspector for the borough of Beaver Falls. "Why," I said, "I had appointed the man they requested me to." My informant said he knew nothing about that; all he knew was that they wanted the appointment I had made revoked, and George W. Nelson—the man named in their petition to Court—appointed. I said, "All right, I will make the change now;" and the next morning I went to my office and wrote out his certificate; which certificate I took to Beaver Falls on same day which it was issued.

And in conclusion I will say that I made the appointment of James M. Allen in good faith, supposing he was a bona fide citizen of said borough; and I revoked the appointment with no other idea than that a mistake had been made.

JOHN C. HART, Clerk of Courts.

Mr. Hart, in the foregoing communication reveals the astounding fact, that although a petition numerously signed, for the appointment of G. W. Nelson and C. Moulter was then filed in his office he appointed James M. Allen through a letter addressed to a third person, and signed only with initials! Why did he disregard the petition? Why was the note on which Mr. Hart based an important official act, and which immediately became an office paper, lost or destroyed? Why does not Mr. Hart answer the second inquiry contained in the letter of the members of the bar, and tell at whose instance the appointment was revoked? Time will not permit us to comment further on the above strange revelation at the present time. We shall probably have more to say next week.

Rev. Dr. Loomis, of the Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa., spent a few days in Beaver last week. The Dr. is an able minister of the M. E. Church, and but few men fill the pulpit in this place whom our people would rather hear than himself. He invariably finds a full house when it is known he intends to preach in Beaver.

An American Novel.—Dr. Holland's serial story, entitled "Arthur Bonnicastle," to be commenced in Scribner's Monthly for November, and continued through the year, will be autobiographical in form, and in a different vein from the earlier stories of this writer. It will incorporate much of personal experience, abound in interesting incidents, and will deal with some of the most important problems of American life. The illustrations of this story by Miss Hallock will be among the best that have appeared in the Magazine.

For the Beaver Argus:

"And the Colored Troops Fought Bravely."

ED. ARGUS:—Just previous to the late election it was discovered by those whose special business it was to keep the colored troops in line, that some wicked Democrats or Liberal Republicans had got among the fold and so mixed the ticket, that "Brudder Bruin," and the other distinguished descendants of Ham were in doubt as to whether they had the Cameron or the Buckalew ticket. Fearing that the cloud of votes that was to roll from "Africa's sunny fountains," might not suit the "Col." or J. V. McD., that pure patriot, and incorruptible statoman, who claims to have left the Democratic party to its great grief and who had, it is said, no less than forty thousand reasons for so doing, took counsel together with other astute politicians of Bridgewater, and called the "Corps d'Afrique" to meet at the African M. E. Church in that place to the end that their tickets might be inspected, and the troops gladdened with the presence of some of the white brethren. After things had been investigated to the satisfaction of one of the committee (the one that could read) it was further proposed to afflict the assembled admirers of our friend, Col. Quay, by calling upon the redoubtable J. V. for a speech. Ye Gods! what a speech it was! The convocations of sparkling wit, and the soul stirring eloquence, were incomparable. Visions of Demosthenes, and Cicero, of Webster and Clay flitted through the brains of his auditors. Some even said that it reminded them forcibly of some of the efforts of an eminent colored divine, who was then and there present. Others thought that the spirit of our friend, the Rev. Richard Gardner possessed the orator. Quay, had he been there, might have had an opportunity to see from whence the genius who did so "much service in the State campaign just closed," derived his great intellect. But Quay was not there. His "olfactories" are very sensitive. He was at home meditating upon what style of fulsome flattery his mixed editorial should contain. For a dish of that kind of praise that answers instead of an emetic, commend us to the "Col.

The speech of the evening was almost eclipsed by that delivered by Major Thomas Fields, who led those fierce howlers who a few evenings since cheered a prominent politician as "de great statesman." Thos. from some reason (probably from his close proximity to the orator who had just preceded him) announced the fact "dat dere was a goat in de camp." This hit the nail on the head, and brought down the house. Thomas is destined to play an important part in the nation at some time; who knows but that some Blanton Duncan Convention may not yet nominate him for President.

We would have felt sorry for another of the orators of the occasion, had he not been supported (as our informant states) with a quart bottle of "new mown hay," or carbolic acid, with which he from time to time regaled himself. He seemed rather ashamed and out of place; but he must try and overcome that bashfulness which is so becoming to him when in the presence of an intelligent audience, and not pay any attention to "de goat in de camp." He may yet have to learn that as the road to Hookstown leads through "Nigger Hollow," so the road to Harrisburg or even to an office in Beaver county, may render it necessary to mount guard with Bruin and Fields. He will also doubtless learn that even that is sweet and pleasant in comparison with some of the sloughs and sewers through which a latter day politician has to pass.

At last, to the relief of the troops, the meeting broke up and the orators, thanking Providence that all the free air of Heaven was not confined to the African M. E. Church, wended their way homeward, musing on various things; and one of them, no doubt, wondering to himself, "Was it for THIS that I left the Democratic party? and why is it that they don't seem to miss me more than they do?"

ALEX.

Meeting of Return Judges.—The return Judges of this county met in accordance with law in Beaver, on Friday, the 11th, and footed up the vote cast on the 8th. The result, in a tabular form, will be found elsewhere in the ARGUS. We have no doubt but that it will be read, pondered, and digested by the politicians of the county. We suggest to some parties in this county the propriety of sending Jas. M. Allen, alias "Specks" a copy of it, thus giving that individual an opportunity of seeing where he could have improved on the count, had the officers of the law not obliged him to "git up and dust" before his time for action arrived. "Specks," we presume, would look over the returns with owl-like gravity.

A Man Hunt—How a Faithful Wife Rescued Her Husband.

The Governor of Missouri has recently pardoned an inmate of the penitentiary, under circumstances which furnish a remarkable and touching instance of what a devoted, trusting and energetic wife can do for her unfortunate husband. The latter usedtolive in Toledo, O., and the facts of his case are vouched for by respectable journals of that place. Some time ago he removed to Missouri with his wife, and early in 1870 the events occurred that proved so disastrous to him. It appears that he was not very prosperous, and had occasion to seel—as nearly the last of his possessions—a pair of fine horses. For this he received $500 in clean, new national currency. The stock-dealer who bought the horses afterwards disappeared. On the next day after the sale, the vender paid out two bills, of $10 each. It was discovered that they were counterfeit, and the man was promptly arrested and lodged in prison. He, of course, directly protested his innocence, and told how he got the money; and the remaining $440 was found on his person. The horse dealer was traced and brought forward, when, to the horror and amazement of the accused man, he stoutly denied all knowledge of the bad bills, and swore that the money he had paid for the horses was in bills on an Illinois bank. No confirmatory evidence of the prisoner's tale could be got, and, as much counterfeit money had lately been circulated in that place, public feeling ran strong against him. He was tried, and despite his earnest protestations, and his wife's determined efforts in his behalf, he was found guilty, and sentenced to five years imprisonment in the penitentiary.

But the wife never for a moment believed him guilty; and with astonishing resolution and pertinacity, she now bent her energies to the task of proving his innocence and effecting his release. To the latter end she first sought an interview with the Governor of Missouri. To him she stated her case, as she saw and believed it. But the Governor, although kind, was firm. The prisoner had been shown to be guilty. Counterfeiting was greatly on the increase. It was necessary to make examples, and there was every just reason why her husband should be one of them. He could hold out no hope, save to the condemned's restoration to his family after five years. The wife went home, converted all she had into cash, and henceforward devoted her whole time and brain to following the horse-dealer who had given her husband the spurious notes, with the hope of convicting the really guilty person of that offense. Pursuing him like a shadow, but keeping out of his sight, she found that when he went to a place, counterfeit money was in circulation there soon afterwards. This happened at Freeport, Illinois, and afterward at Fort Wayne, Indiana. At the latter place she caused his arrest, but nothing could be proved against him, and he was set free. Then she dogged him to Canton, Ohio, to Pittsburgh, Altoona, Lancaster, Chambersburg, Philadelphia, Goshen, Binghampton, Oswego, Elmira and other towns in New York, sometimes staying two or three months in one place. The man was, however, so guarded and ingenious as always to manage to cover his tracks—in fact, he never passed false "paper" at all himself—and his inexplicable pursuer was unable to bring him to account. At last, however he left Flat Newton, Sussex county, N. J., and she believed and proved that her golden opportunity was at last at hand.

When the horse-dealer fell ill the wife of his victim was at the same hotel. She found out the physician attending him and frankly told her whole story. She described how she had tracked the cause of her husband's misfortunes, and begged the doctor for the sake of justice and right to help her. The physician was moved by her story, and agreed to do what she asked, which was to give his patient some depressing but safe medicine, and adroitly to lead him to think that he was in a very critical condition. This was accordingdone, and worked to a charm. The patient at once begged for a clergyman, who arriving, pointed out the necessity to full repentance, and at this juncture the wife entered the room and baptored the supposed dying man to repair the great wrong he had done her husband. The result was that the sufferer made a deposition before a magistrate, confessing that he had passed the five hundred dollars, as described, and furthermore that he was a member of an extensive gang of counterfeiters, his special business being not to utter bad money, but to spread it among confederates in different parts of the country. He also said that on the occasion of making the trade in question he happened to have no money, and greatly wanted the horses. Armed with this document the now happy woman hastened back to Missouri, laid her evidence before the governor, and had the satisfaction of carrying a full pardon to her husband almost immediately after. The two are now living joyfully on a farm in Southern Illinois, and their case is naturally exciting abundant comment and congratulation.

—A man in Massachusetts had an unreasonable grudge against his minister that lasted twenty-five years. But at last the hand of death knocked at the door of the parishioner and he sent for the pastor. The good man hastily obeyed the summons with a solemn delight at his being thus called showed a mellowing of the heart of the dying man which promised reconciliation both with Heaven and himself.

"You sent for me," said he as he approached the bedside.

"Yes" answered the dying man, whose breath was now short and difficult. "I have but a few—a few hours to live and I sent —sent for you to say that —this is your last—last chance to apologize!"

—An excursion, on a grand scale is preparing at Columbia, Pennsylvania, under the auspices of Cyrene commandry, Knights Templar, for a tour to Europe and the international exposition at Vienna. They propose to start about the last of June next. Landing at Queenstown, they will travel through Ireland and Great Britain, and visit all places of prominence on the continent. The details have all been arranged for carrying the party, and providing for them at an extremely low rate. Number limited. Persons wishing to join this most magnificent excursion should make it known before the first day of January next. ☞ Late German papers inform us that the Old World will soon be independent of America as regards refined petroleum, which Germany in particular has been a large importer. The crude material has lately been discovered in Galicia in inconceivable abundance, and efforts proportioned to the plenteousness of the "find" have been made to prepare it for the market. In one single village twenty refineries are already in operation, and others are rapidly springing up. As yet, all the production has been from surface borings, but when the wells are sunk to the depth of those in this country the production, it is estimated, will be sufficient for the supply of all Europe. If that is so, the occupation of petroleum speculators in this country is literally gone.

☞ The diamond excitement is reviving in San Francisco. One of the companies exhibit diamonds and rubies valued at many thousands of dollars, which they claim to be found in Arizona. Over three thousand acres of land have been surveyed, but the location will be kept secret until ga overnment patent is obtained.

Vinegar Bitters are not a vile Fancy Drink made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the Great Blood Purifier and a Life-giving Principle, a Perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition, enriching it, refreshing and invigorating both mind and body. They are easy of administration, prompt in their action, certain in their results, safe and reliable in all forms of disease.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, and in Bilious Diseases.

For Skin Diseases. Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Grateful thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist: There is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. To such a degree will some, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

Mechanical Diseases. Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Typesetters, Gold beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, will be subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS once or twice a week as a Preventive.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. For this no cathartic is for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generating restoring the healthful tone of the digestive organs.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goiter, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores or Ulcers, Moth Patches, Skin, Sore Eyes etc., etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters act on all these cases in a similar manner. By purifying the Blood they remove the cause, and by resolving away the effects of the inflammation (the tubercular deposits) the affected parts receive health, and a permanent cure is effected.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic and Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious

The Aperient and mild Laxative properties of DR WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are the best safe-guard in all cases of eruptions and malignant fevers, their balsamic healing, and soothing properties protect the human system from the fatal effects of the destructive properties alay pain in the nervous system, stomach, and bowels, either from inflammation, wind, colic, cramps, etc. Their Anti-Bilious influence extends throughout the system. Their Anti-Bilious properties stimulate the liver, in the secretion of bile, and its discharges through the biliary ducts, and are superior to all remedial agents for the cure of Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, etc.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus forearmed.

Directions.—Take of the Bitters on going to bed at night from a half to one and one-half wineglassful. Eat good nourishing food, such as beefsteak, mutton chop, venison, roast beef, and vegetables, and take out-door exercise. They are composed of purely vegetable ingredients, and contain no spirit.
